NEWS RELEASE

Jeremy Caddy, President of Aldershot Resources Ltd. (the "Company") announces that it has become clear that the Company will not be able to raise sufficient funding to continue with its plans for exploring its many claims in the province of Quebec.

Consequently management has devoted considerable time to negotiating with the optionees for the respective claims to be returned to them in a cash neutral manner for the Company.

The Company, therefore, has returned all the claims over which it held title in some fashion in the province of Quebec back to the original owners (the optionees). At the completion of this exercise management will be writing off resource properties' acquisition costs which total $2,228,882.

The Company will be focusing on its Australian properties and the Kariba Project, Republic of Zambia, Africa.
